JEFFREY HENDERSON
Dear Friend of the Loeb Classical Library,

Enclosed please find our complete 2019 catalog, whose latest offerings significantly expand and update the Library’s coverage of oratory, rhetoric, and Roman history in both Greek and Latin. As General Editor Jeffrey Henderson recently wrote on the HUP Blog:

Already in Homer’s Iliad, heroism required prowess in public speaking as well as in battle—Achilles’ fiery speech in Iliad Book 9 always ranked high among classic examples—and by the fourth century BC, oratory, along with its formal study, rhetoric, had overcome principled suspicion by the likes of Aristophanes and Plato as being fundamentally dishonest and manipulative and took their place at the heart of law, politics, education, and literature.

Our eight newest volumes feature heroic words and deeds aplenty, drawn primarily (though not exclusively) from the tumultuous times of the Roman Republic:

- J. C. Yardley’s renovation of the Loeb Livy marches on, now expanding into the third decade (Books 21–30), which narrates the Second Punic War. Highlights from the new Volume V (Books 21–22) include Hannibal’s crossing of the Alps, the battle of Cannae, and contentious debates concerning the strategies of Fabius Maximus Cunctator (“the Delayer”).

- The same events are told from a different perspective in Appian’s Roman History, whose first half (Volumes I–III in Brian McGing’s new Loeb edition) uniquely treats Rome’s dealings with other nations one book at a time, in the order the Romans conquered them. Household names such as Scipio Africanus and Pompey the Great feature prominently.

- If you have ever wondered about the evidence for the words such figures spoke when they approached the rostra to address the people, or prevailed upon colleagues in the senate, Gesine Manuwald’s three-volume Fragmentary Republican Latin: Oratory is replete with interesting information (e.g., contemporary reactions to the speeches of Brutus and Antony following Caesar’s assassination).

- Finally, from the late imperial period, William H. Race presents three rhetorical treatises addressed to the budding Greek orator contemplating a civic career under Rome.

FRAGMENTARY REPUBLICAN LATIN
Oratory
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY GESINE MANUWALD

The Loeb Classical Library series Fragmentary Republican Latin continues with oratory, an important element of Roman life from the earliest times. With the exceptions of Cato the Elder and Cicero, this three-volume edition includes all individuals for whom speech-making is attested and for whose speeches quotations, descriptive testimonia, or historiographic recreations survive. It includes all the orators recognized by Malcovati and follows her numbering, but the texts have been drawn from the most recent and reliable editions of the source authors and revised in light of current scholarship.

For all volumes of Fragmentary Republican Latin, visit page 8.

MENANDER RHETOR. DIONYSIUS OF HALICARNASSUS, ARS RHETORICA
Menander Rhetor
Dionysius of Halicarnassus
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY WILLIAM H. RACE

This volume contains three rhetorical treatises dating probably from the reign of Diocletian (AD 285–312) that provide instruction on how to compose epideictic (display) speeches for a wide variety of occasions both public and private. These treatises derive from the schools of rhetoric that flourished in the Roman Empire from the 2nd through 4th centuries AD in the Greek East. They provide a window into the literary culture, educational values and practices, and social concerns of these Greeks under Roman rule, in both public and private life, and considerably influenced later literature both pagan and Christian. This edition offers a fresh translation, ample annotation, and texts based on the best critical editions.

NEW TITLES

ROMAN HISTORY
Volumes I–III
Appian
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY BRIAN McGING

Appian (Appianus) is among our principal sources for the history of the Roman Republic. Born circa AD 95, Appian was an Alexandrian official at ease in the highest political and literary circles who later became a Roman citizen and advocate. He died during the reign of Antoninus Pius (emperor 138–161). His theme is the process by which the Roman Empire achieved its contemporary prosperity, and his unique method is to trace in individual books the story of each nation’s wars with Rome up through her own civil wars. This edition of Appian replaces the original Loeb edition by Horace White.

HISTORY OF ROME
Livy
Volume V: Books 21–22
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY
J. C. YARDLEY
Introduction by Dexter Hoyos and John Briscoe

Livy (Titus Livius), the great Roman historian, was born at Patavium (Padua) in 64 or 59 BC, where after years in Rome he died in AD 12 or 17. Livy’s history, composed as the imperial autocracy of Augustus was replacing the republican system that had stood for over 500 years, presents in splendid style a vivid narrative of Rome’s rise from the traditional foundation of the city in 753 or 751 BC to 9 BC and illustrates the collective and individual virtues necessary to achieve and maintain such greatness. This edition replaces the original Loeb edition by B. O. Foster.

THEOGONY. WORKS AND DAYS. TESTIMONIA
Hesiod
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY GLENN W. MOST

Glenn W. Most has thoroughly revised his edition to take account of the textual and interpretive scholarship that has appeared since its initial publication.

Praise for the original edition:
“Hesiod is our oldest source for many of the best-known and best-loved stories of Greek mythology.”
—New Republic

POSTHOMERICA
Quintus Smyrnaeus
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY NEIL HOPKINSON
Quintus Smyrnaeaus’ Posthomerica, the only long mythological epic to survive in Greek from the period between Apollonius’ Argonautica (3rd century BC) and Nonnus’ Dionysiaca (5th century AD), fills in the whole story of the Trojan expedition between the end of Homer’s Iliad and the beginning of the Odyssey. This edition of the Posthomerica replaces the earlier Loeb Classical Library edition by A. S. Way (The Fall of Troy, 1913) with an updated text based on that of F. Vian, and fresh translation, introduction, and bibliography that take account of more than a century of intervening scholarship.
L019 2018 768 pp.

DISEASES OF WOMEN 1–2
Hippocrates
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY PAUL POTTER
This is the eleventh and final volume in the Loeb Classical Library’s complete edition of Hippocrates’ invaluable texts, which provide essential information about the practice of medicine in antiquity and about Greek theories concerning the human body. Here, Paul Potter presents the Greek text with facing English translation of Diseases of Women 1 and 2, which represent the most extensive accounts in the Hippocratic collection of female reproductive life, the pathological conditions affecting the female reproductive organs, and their proper terminology and recommended treatments. A lexicon of therapeutic agents is included for reference.

HYGIENE
Galen
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY IAN JOHNSTON
Galen of Pergamum (129–?199/216), physician to the court of the emperor Marcus Aurelius, was a philosopher, scientist, medical historian, theoretician, and practitioner who wrote on an astonishing range of subjects and whose impact on later eras rivaled that of Aristotle. His treatise Hygiene, also known as “On the Preservation of Health” (De sanitate tuenda), ranks among his most important and influential works, providing a comprehensive account of the practice of preventive medicine that still has relevance today.

TRAGEDIES
Seneca
EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY JOHN G. FITCH
Seneca is a figure of first importance in both Roman politics and literature. John G. Fitch has thoroughly revised his two-volume edition of Seneca’s Tragedies to take account of the textual and interpretive scholarship that has appeared since its initial publication. His translation conveys the force of Seneca’s dramatic language and the lyric quality of his choral odes.

The Loeb Classical Library is the only series of books that, through original text and English translation, gives access to all that is important in Greek and Latin literature. Epic and lyric poetry; tragedy and comedy; history, travel, philosophy, and oratory; the great medical writers and mathematicians; those Church fathers who made particular use of pagan culture—in short, our entire classical heritage is represented here in convenient and well-printed pocket volumes in which an up-to-date text and accurate and literate English translation face each other page by page. The editors provide substantive introductions as well as essential critical and explanatory notes and selective bibliographies.

The Loeb Classical Library is continually revised and updated, and new volumes are regularly added. Greek volumes are cased in green cloth, Latin in red. Each volume measures 4.5 x 6.5 inches (111 x 168 mm). Volumes are currently priced at $28.00 / £19.95.
